

Syllabus

2D to 3D

UO5-102

FabLab CEPT (Next to SID Workshop)

Wednesday & Friday, 0830 - 1030

Henry G. Skupniewicz

FabLab CEPT

+91 9825 014578 (SMS only)

HenrySkup@gmail.com

Schedule

This is a working schedule which will be updated and filled out in the next week.

23 July, 2014

To do

1. Hello, World! (watch quick video)
2. Watch assignment video : Learn Markdown

Notes

- Markdown Docu.
- Mastering Markdown
- emojis

Assignment

1. File as described in video. (File named `FirstnameLastname` with `FirstnameLastname.md` within - pictures too, if nessesary) Turn in via email by 2359, 27 July, 2014.
-

Policies

Attendance

Attendance to all lectures is manandtory.

Attendance to lab sessions is highly reccommended. These may be considered time in which students enrolled in this course have priority access to FabLab CEPT resources.

Grading

Academic Integrity

The purpose of education is promote and expand the truth. Collaboration and building off the work of others are, of course, the corner-stones of academic research, but must be used with integrity. Thus, all work must be presented with honesty as the foundational criterion.

Students must:

- Appropriately cite any and all work (papers, images, videos, etc.) that contributed toward their work.
- Properly acknowledge collaboration (of any type) that contributed toward their work.
- Request information from faculty regarding questions before submission of work.

Any act of plagiarism, cheating, or other act of academic dishonesty will be addressed on a case-by-case basis, but may be considered a serious offense.

Any questions about citation, research, or those in regards to this policy should be referred to fablab@cept.ac.in.

This policy is heavily influenced by those of MIT (Cambridge, MA). For more information see integrity.mit.edu.

Code of Conduct

All students (and others) are required to treat themselves, those around them, their environment with the upmost respect. Discrimination, harassment, violence, etc. of any kind, is unacceptable and will be handled with all seriousness.

Any questions in regards to this policy should be referred to fablab@cept.ac.in.